Treatment Team Release of Information
Wendy Hoyt, PhD, PC

Appropriate treatment of eating disorders requires the work of a multidisciplinary treatment team, including a therapist, dietitian and physician. The team needs to work closely together to share important information to ensure that clients receive the best care possible. To meet this end, our treatment team meets on a weekly basis to discuss all cases. Present at these team meetings might be:

- Andrea Addley, RD
- Amelia McBride, RD
- Karly Pippitt, MD
- Therapists, physicians and dietitians in training (you are welcome to ask for current list)

At the end of our appointment, we will discuss appropriate referrals. If referred to any of the above providers, the most effective care will take place if you allow us to communicate openly about your care during our weekly treatment team meeting. However, this is optional.

To maintain your privacy with these other providers, I will:

- Only discuss therapy session topics as they relate to the care of your eating disorder. This means non-eating disorder related issues will not be discussed with the treatment team.
- Not share any information you directly state we are not free to disclose.

In order to best serve you, we will actively seek updates on your status with dietary sessions and medical appointments from both you and these providers, and discuss openly with you any concerns that arise.

Please sign below indicating your willingness to allow our treatment team to discuss your care.

I agree that my case may be discussed with the providers above.
